Accredited Programs

ISO 9001 > Quality Management System ensures consistent quality based on principles such as strong customer focus, motivation and implication of top management, process approach and continual improvement.

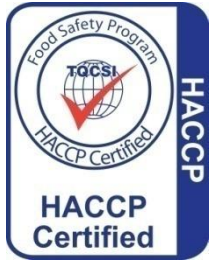

ISO 14001 > Environmental Management System provides assurance to company management and employees as well as external stakeholders that environmental impact is being measured and improved.

ISO 45001 > Safety Management System is crucial for organizations that are serious about improving employee safety, reducing workplace risks and creating better, safer working conditions.

Accredited Programs

TQCSI HACCP > Food Safety Management System is the simplest form of food safety management system by identifying potential hazards to food safety, risk assessing them and controlling those deemed critical.

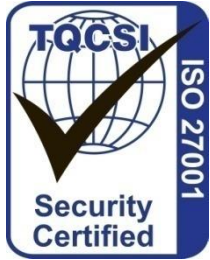

ISO 22000 > Food Safety Management System helps organizations identify and control food safety hazards. It provides a layer of reassurance within the global food supply chain, helping products cross borders and bringing people food that they can trust.

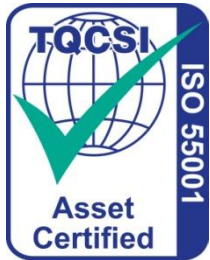

FSSC 22000 > Food Safety Management System is based on ISO 22000 with FSSC 22000 Additional Requirements. This makes the standard one of the most stringent for food safety certification.

Accredited Programs

ISO 27001 > Information Security Management System enables organizations to manage the security of assets such as financial information, intellectual property, employee details or information entrusted by third parties.

ISO 55001 > Asset Management System helps organizations to manage lifecycle of assets more effectively so that organizations have better control over daily activities, achieve higher return with their assets, and reduce the total cost of risk.

Non-Accredited Programs

ISO 13485 > Quality Management System for medical devices and related services ensures the design, production and distribution of medical devices meet customer and applicable regulatory requirements.

GMP > Good Manufacturing Practice can be for food or any other industry that demonstrates compliance with legal and regulatory requirements and industry norms which might be documented in legislation or and industry or association code of practice.

ISO 22716 > Good Manufacturing Practices for cosmetics gives guidelines for the production, control, storage and shipment of cosmetic products. These guidelines cover the quality aspects of the product.
